A letter from prospective parents February 2016...

Dear Mogg Hercules and dear Maria- Luisa Marchini,

Thank you for arranging our visit on the open afternoon last Tuesday. Our son A enjoyed himself very much and he wanted to stay much longer. When we left he said: 'this was super!'

We wanted to convey that the ethos of the school mirrors well how we feel about early childhood education and how we want to raise our son and see him educated. Allowing him to attend Dallington School would be a continuation and augmentation of our efforts at home.

As we are creative household, M working as a photographer and me being an architect, who is currently a stay-at-home mum, we are very drawn to the creative environment of Dallington. But most importantly we feel that your school provides a very good foundation for children to learn to think critically, to voice their opinion and to be reflective.

These values correspond very much with the education we both experienced and how we grew up. Me, being German and M being Norwegian, we both feel close to the Dallington education, regarding attention and respect to the individual child, and it was evident in the children's happiness we experienced when visiting the school. We really wish A to be educated in such an environment, where his individuality, vitality and inquisitive nature is valued.

You will find A a very curious, inquisitive and spirited child and we would be thrilled to have him join the class of 2016.

Sincerely,

I H and M H
